INSPIRATION

Janine has a long and varied career in watercolours from traditional to more contemporary, but her work remains to this day a reflection of the country she lives in, with close ties to her birth place of Tasmania.

Janine's first and very brief experience with glass was many years ago when she did a glass blowing workshop at Curtin University, this encounter stayed in her thoughts until a couple of years ago. She then decided to explore the properties of glass more seriously and how it may be used to expand her love of painting this beautiful country which she has spent so much time exploring.

ARTIST STATEMENT

To preserve the vivid images seen through my mind of this stunning country. I use the beautiful transparent qualities of glass for the benefit of future generations' enjoyment.
